

Sharing music, stories, and humor that remind us of the gifts Life has to offer

There's magic in the air when Hawk Henries comes to town

www.robertvelasco.com

Hawk is a member of the Chaubunagungamaug band of Nipmuck, a people indigenous to what is now Southern New England. He has been composing original music and making Eastern Woodlands flutes using hand tools for almost 30 years.

He will play a variety of different flutes. He also enjoys sharing his experiences and perspectives about life in hopes of acknowledging and honoring the sacredness in each person and all cultures. He creates a calming yet engaging and contemplative space while maintaining a note of humor. His music is a reflection of thinking that we each have the capacity to make a change in the world.
